

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

IN publishing the Conjugation of the Greek Verb according to the system of one of the most learned and philosophical Greek scholars of Germany, I have no other motive than to render an acceptable service to masters of schools and their pupils. Those who are engaged in teaching the Greek language cannot but be aware, from daily experience, how difficult young persons find it to acquire the Greek conjugation, and how few they are who succeed in making themselves masters even of the common forms of conjugation. It is, indeed, not to be expected that young persons should be able, not only to commit all the forms of conjugation to memory, but also to retain them, unless they are made to comprehend the elements of which the various forms are compounded. My own experience, both in learning and teaching the Greek language, has fully convinced me that no system facilitates the perfect acquirement and retention of the Greek conjugation so much as that which is here offered to masters and pupils. In studying it they will find, that, comparatively speaking, very little is to be committed to memory. The utility of this system appears so obvious, that it is not deemed necessary to recommend it by argument: it is believed that it will recommend itself to all those who may use it by its philosophical as well as practical simplicity; and, as it does not interfere with the use of any of those grammars which are generally adopted, it is my sincere wish that it may soon be introduced into all those seminaries where the Greek language is studied.

The first book of Thiersch's large grammar has been translated into English by D. K. Sandford, Esq., Professor of Greek in the University of Glasgow; and I strongly recommend his translation to all those who are desirous of making a profound study of the Greek, but have not a sufficient knowledge of the German to understand the philosophical style of the original. Professor Sandford has, by this translation, given unequivocal proof that he is completely master of the German; and I hope that this learned gentleman will soon favour the public with the second book—The Syntax.

I beg to avail myself of this opportunity to inform those who wish to study German, that I have a new grammar of that language in the press, which will make a small duodecimo volume, but will nevertheless, I hope, be found more complete, correct, and practical, than Noehden's, Wendeborn's, Bernays', or Rowbotham's, and more practical than Becker's.

CONJUGATION OF THE GREEK VERB.

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

1. The nine mute consonants are divided into three sounds, and these three sounds form three classes according to their aspiration (spiritus).

1. P sound, π, β, φ.
2. K — κ, γ, χ.
3. T — τ, δ, θ.

- 1st Class, called tenues, π, κ, τ, without any aspiration.
 2nd ——— mediæ, β, γ, δ, with a gentle aspiration.
 3rd ——— aspiratæ } φ, χ, θ, with a strong aspiration.
 or asperæ }

2. When a p sound or a k sound comes before a t sound, the p or k sound must belong to the same class to which the t sound belongs. Hence the following changes take place:

τετριβ ³¹ ται	is changed into	τετριπ ¹¹ ται.	βεβρεχ ³¹ ται	is changed into	βεβρεκ ¹¹ ται.
εστραφ ³¹ ται	——	εστραπ ¹¹ ται.	επλεκ ¹² θην	——	επλεχ ³³ θην.
ετυπ ¹² θην	——	ετυφ ³³ θην.	λεγ ³² θησομαι	——	λεχ ³² θησομαι.
λελεγ ³¹ ται	——	λελεκ ¹¹ ται.

Note. εκ, out of, makes an exception in compound words: as, εκ-διδωμι, εκ-θιω.

3. One t sound before another is commonly changed into c: εκπειθ³¹θην into εκπεισ³¹θην, πεφραδ³¹ται into πεφρασ³¹ται, from φράζω, i.e. φράδσω.

4. When two aspirates stand alone in two consecutive syllables, the former is changed into a tenuis:

φεφίλῃκα into πεφίλῃκα.

Note. In the imperative mood of the 1st aor. passive, the latter ϑ, which belongs to the termination, is changed, τύφθηθι into τύφθητι; and of three aspirates the first only is changed, θέθαφα into τέθαφα.

5. When the second aspirate, which has produced the change of a preceding one into a tenuis, disappears, the tenuis is again changed into the aspirate:

θάφος into τάφος but θάπτω.

θρέχω — τρέχω — θρέξειν.

6. When a p sound (π β φ) comes before ς, the two are contracted into ψ:

βλέπω into βλέψω, τρίβω into τριψω, γράφω into γράψω.

7. When a k sound (κ γ χ) comes before ς, the two are contracted into ξ:

πλέκω into πλέξω, λέγω into λέξω, βρέχω into βρέξω.

8. When a t sound (τ δ ϑ) comes before ς, it is thrown away:

άνύτω becomes άνύσω, ερείδω ερείσω, πέιθω πέισω.

9. When a p sound comes before μ, it is changed into μ:

τέτυμαι into τέτυμμαι, τέτριβμαι into τέτριμμμαι, γέγραφμαι into γέγραμμμαι.

10. When a k sound comes before μ, it is changed into γ:

πέπλεκμαι into πέπλεγμαι, βέβρεχμαι into βέβρεγμαι,

11. When a t sound comes before μ, it is changed into ς:

ήνυτμαι into ήνυσμαι, ήρειδμαι into ήρεισμαι, πέπειθμαι into πέπεισμαι.

12. N before a p sound, consequently also before ψ, is changed into μ:

λιμπάνω into λιμπάνω, λανβάνω into λαμβάνω, ενφύς into εμφύς, ενψυχος into εμψυχος.

13. N before a k sound, consequently before ξ, is changed into γ, and pronounced like ng in song:

ἐνκειμαι into ἐγκειμαι, φονγάνω into φουγγάνω, τυνχάνω into τυγγάνω, πλάνξω into πλάγγω.

14. N before a t sound remains unchanged :

ἐντός, συνδέω, ἐφάνθην.

15. N before another liquid (λ μ ρ) is changed into the same :

ἐνμένω into ἐμμένω, συναλαμβάνω into συλλαμβάνω, συνράπτω into σύρράπτω.

16. N before ζ, consequently also before ζ (σδ) and between two consonants, is generally thrown out :

δαίμονσι becomes δαίμοσι, συνζυγία συζυγία, τίτυνται τίτυπται. (See the Perf. Pass.)

17. When σ comes between two consonants, it is thrown out :

λελειπσθον becomes λελειπ¹³θον, this is again changed into λελειφ³³θον. (See 2.)

τετριεσθαι — τετριε²³θαι ————— τετριφ³³θαι.

λελεγσθωσαν — λελεγ²³θωσαν ————— λελεχ³³θωσαν.

ήγγέλσθαι — ήγγέλθαι.

18. When a single t sound, or v by itself, is thrown out before ζ, the vowel which precedes the dropped letter remains unchanged :

ἐλπιδσι becomes ἐλπισι, κόρυθσι κόρυσι, μείζονσι μείζοσι, δαίμονσι δαίμοσι.

19. But when a t sound and v are thrown out before ζ, the vowel which precedes the dropped letters is made long ; ε is changed into ει, ο into ου, ᾱ into ᾶ, υ into ῦ ; η and ω remain unchanged :

τυφθενται into τυφθείσι, τύψανται into τύψᾶσι, σπενδσω into σπέισω, δεικ-νυνται into δείκνῦσι, τυπτονται into τύπτουσι, τυπτωνται into τύπτωσι.

20. A long syllable is shortened by reducing its double or long vowel, or its doubled consonant, to its original single or short. Thus :

ἤθειλον, ἴκον, βάλλον, ὀππότε, become ἔθειλον, ἴκον, βᾶλον, ὀπότε.

If η has arisen out of α, then α re-appears, when shortened :

ἠδ, μῆθ, στη, βη, φη, become αδ, μαθ, στα, βα, φα.

When, in other cases, abbreviation is possible, then of the double letters the last, but of ζ (i. e. σδ), of ει before a mute, and of ευ, the first, is thrown away ;

πνiew, τειν, πνοιη, ακου, αιρ, κερδαιν, τεμν, τυπτ, become, shortened, πνω, τεν, πνοη, ακο, ᾶρ, κερδαν, τεμ, τυπ.

But λειπ, στειχ, πειθ, πευθ, φευγ, φραζ, become, shortened, λιπ, στιχ, πιθ, πυθ, φυγ φραδ.

GENERAL REMARKS ON THE GREEK CONJUGATION.

1. Of the Kinds (Genera) of Verbs.

To express the four kinds of verbs, Neuter, Active, Middle, and Passive, there are, in Greek, only two forms; the active and the passive: τύπτω, τύπτομαι. The neuter and middle are expressed by parts either of the one or the other. There are, however, in the passive conjugation, special forms for the future and aorist middle.

2. Of the Tenses.

We divide the tenses into

1. Principal Tenses.

Present.

Perfect.

Future, 1.

Future, 2.

2. Secondary Tenses.

Imperfect.

Pluperfect,

Aorist, 1.

Aorist, 2.

Note. The denomination, principal and secondary tenses, refers solely to their form.

These tenses occur in the passive as well as in the active: the former has also a preterite future, which, according to its termination, belongs to the principal tenses: γεγράψομαι.

3. Of the Moods.

In the Greek conjugation there are the following moods: Indicative, Subjunctive, Optative, Imperative, Infinitive, and the Participle.

The imperfect and pluperfect have only an indicative mood: other tenses supply that want.

The futures have no imperative mood: they borrow it from the aorists.

The subjunctive and optative moods of the perfect passive cannot be formed, because that tense has no mood-vowels. Recourse, therefore, is had to an auxiliary verb with the participle: τετυμμένος εἶην.

4. Of Numbers and Persons.

The Greek language has a singular, dual, and plural number; and each number three persons, some of which, however, have the same formation.

In certain verbs, the third person plur. of the perf. and pluperf. passive is expressed by an auxiliary and the participle: for, if they were formed regularly, the third person plur. would be like the third person sing.: τέτυπται, 3 p. sing.: τέτυπνται, τέτυπται. 3 p. plur.

5. Of the Roots and Classes of Verbs.

The root of a verb in ω is found by taking away ω from the first person of the present:

λείπω	φιλέω (cont. φιλῶ)	νέμω
Roots, λειπ	φιλε	νεμ

According to the termination of the roots, the verbs are divided into mute, pure, and liquid verbs:

Mute Verbs.	Pure Verbs.	Liquid Verbs. λείπω, I leave	τιμάω, I honor	βάλλω, I throw
λέγω, I say	φιλέω, I love	νεμω, I distribute
πείθω, I persuade	χρυσόω, I gild	κτείνω, I kill
ἄρχω, I rule	λύω, I loose	αἶρω, I raise

Verbs, the roots of which end in two consonants (unless these be a mute with a liquid, muta cum liquida) have altered their original roots, and belong to the anomalous verbs: e.g. of πράσσω, I do	τύπτω, I beat	τίκτω, I bear	γηράσκω, I grow old the roots are not πρασ	τυπτ	τικτ	γηρασκ, but πραγ	τυπ	τεκ	γηρα.

Verbs of this description, however, may be reckoned among the regular, when the original roots are recovered by the reduction of the double consonant to a single, according to the general rule; viz. of two consonants the last is thrown away; but of the double consonant ζ, i. e. σδ, the first, e. g.

throwing away of τυπτ, αγγελλ, τεμν, the last, and of φραζ (σδ), the first, we have the original roots, τυπ, αγγελ, τεμ, φραδ.

Most of those verbs which have σσ or ττ in the present before ω have a k sound in their original root; πράσσω, πραγ; ἀλάσσω, αλαγ; φρίσσω, φρικ; κηρύσσω, κηρυκ; βήσσω, βηχ; ταράσσω, ταραχ. These form all the tenses, except the present and imperfect, from the original roots regularly. Some of them have a t sound in their original root, or σσ is added to a pure root. These are conjugated accordingly: as, πλάσσω (root πλατ) (πλάτυς), fut. πλάσω; λεύσσω (λευ), fut. λεύσω (see Prel. Rem. 8.); in the same way, πάσσω, πτίσσω, βλίπτω, βράπτω, κνώσσω, ιμάσσω, έρέσσω, κορύσσω, λίσσομαι, νίσσομαι. The two verbs ἀφύσσω and νάσσω appear to have had two roots, like παίζω, one with a k sound, and the other with a t sound, or ending in a vowel; for the futures are ἀφύξω, νάξω; but the aorist of the former is ήφουσα, and the perf. passive of the latter νένασμαι.

6. Of the Augment.

1. When the root of the verb begins with a consonant, it receives, in certain tenses, an augment, by ε being prefixed; which augment is called the syllabic (augmentum syllabicum), because it increases the word by one syllable.

τυπ, ετυπ, λεγ, ελεγ, ψαλλ, εψαλλ.

2. When the root begins with a short vowel, it receives an augment by the doubling of the vowel; i. e. by changing α and ε into η, ο into ω, ι and υ into ῑ and ῡ; which augment is called the temporal (augmentum temporale), because it lengthens the vowel by one time

(tempus, mora), which is required in the pronunciation of it. Thus we form from ἐρ ὄχε ἀνδαν ἱκ ὕ αἶρ αὐχ εἰ εὐχ οἴκε, ἦρ ὠχε ἦνδαν ἱκ ὕ ἦρ ἦυχ ἦ ἦυχ ἦκε.

Note 1. Those beginning with ω, η, ου, and four with ἄ, do not take an augment: ἄω I breathe, ἀίω I hear, ἀηθέσσω I disaccustom, ἀηδίζομαι I am painfully affected. Also the following, with short vowels, have no augment: εἶκω I yield, εἶκον; εὐρίσκω I find, εὐρον; οἰκουρέω I take care of the house; οἰνώω I intoxicate myself; οἰστρέω I make furious.

Note 2. The following change ε into ει: ἔχω I have, εἶχον; ἐρίω I draw, εἶρον; ἐάω I permit, εἶαον; ἐρέω I say, εἶρηκα; ἔθω I am accustomed to, εἶθω; ἔπομαι, I follow, εἰπόμην: and the root ελ, εἶλον (αἰρέω), and four with a double consonant after ε: ἐλκύω I draw, ἔρπω I creep, ἐργάζομαι I work, ἑστιάω I feast.

Note 3. The following take the syllabic augment instead of the temporal; and the spiritus, either asper or lenis, which stands on the first vowel of the root, goes to the augment: ἀλίσκω, ἐάλων I was taken; ἄγνυμι, ἐάγην I was broken; ὠθέω, ἐώθειον; likewise ἔοικα, ἔοργα, ἔολπα, from εἶκω, ἔργω, ἔλπω. Ἐορτάζω I make a feast, takes the augment in the second syllable, ἐώρταζον; also the pluperf. of εἶκω; perf. ἔοικα, pluperf. ἐπέκειν.

Note 4. The following take both the syllabic and the temporal: ὄράω I see, ἐώρων; δύναμαι I am able, ἠδυνάμην; μέλλω I am about, ἤμελλον; διακοινεῖν to administer, and διατρέψν, have the syllabic augment ε before the root, and the temporal in α: δεδιηκόνηκα, κατεδιήγησα.

Note 5. The letter ρ is doubled after the augment: ρέω I flow, ἔρρεον; ῥύομαι I save, ἐρρύσατο.

3. Such of the compound verbs as are compounded with a noun or α, take the augment at the beginning: φιλοσοφέω ἐφιλοσόφειον, ἀφρονέω ἠφρόνειον: but those which are compounded with a preposition or with δύς, εὔ, take it between these prefixes and the root; and the preposition suffers elision: παραλαμβάνω παρελάμβανον, ἀσπλίζω ἀσπλίζον.

Note. πρό and περί are not elided; nor ἀμφί, in ἀμφιέννυμι and ἀμφιελίσσω: but of πρό the ο is often contracted with the following ε into ου: προέλεγον, προύλεγον.

4. The secondary tenses take the augment only in the indicative mood. Of the principal tenses the perfect takes the augment in all its moods; and when it begins with a consonant, it repeats the same before the augment (reduplicatio). In this case, the pluperf. receives an additional syllabic augment: τέτυφα, τετύφω, έτετύφειν.

5. The reduplication does not take place, when the root of the verb begins with two consonants without a liquid, or with γν: roots γνο, ψαλλ; perf. and pluperf. έγνο, έψαλλ.

6. In verbs beginning with a vowel, the first syllable is sometimes repeated before the temporal augment in the perf., which is called the Attic reduplication. This Attic reduplication shortens the vowel of the root: άκούω, perf. άκηκο; άλείφω, perf. άληλιφ.

7. Of the Terminations of the Tenses.

The terminations, which are added to the roots of the verbs, in order to form the tenses, are as follows:

	Active.	Middle.	Passive.
Present	ω	—	ομαι
Imperf.	ον	—	όμεν
Perfect	α	—	μαι
Pluperf.	ειν	—	μην
Fut. 1.	σω	σομαι	θήσομαι
Aor. 1.	σα	σάμην	θήν
Fut. 2.	ίω	έομαι	ήσομαι
Aor. 2.	ον	όμεν	ην.

(A) FORMATION OF MUTE VERBS.

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

1. The p and k sounds are generally aspirated in the perf. and pluperf. of the active; a t sound is generally thrown out, and a κ put before the termination of the tense:

τρίβω I rub, perf. τρίτριφα; πλίκω I weave, πέπλεχα; φράζω (root φραδ) I say, πέφρακα; πείθω I persuade, πέπεικα, pluperf. έτετρίφειν, έπεπλέχειν, έπεφράκειν, έπεπείκειν.

2. Of many verbs a perfect is formed without aspirating the p and k sounds, which perfect is generally called either the second perfect, or the perfect of the middle; φεύγω, πέφευγα, τύπτω, τέτυπα. In this perfect the ε of the present is frequently changed into ο; λείπω, λέλοιπα, τέκω, τέτοκα.

Note. The Attics change the ε also in the aspirated perfects into ο: πέμπω πέπομφα, κλέπτω, κέκλοφα.

3. In the perfect of the passive the ε of the root is sometimes changed into α; τρέπω, τέτραμμαι, τρέφω (root θρεφ), τέθραμμαι: and the diphthong εν of the present is in verbs, the short roots of which have ν, changed again into υ in the perf. pass. though εν is retained in the perf. active: φεύγω, πέφευγα, πέφυγμαι; τεύχω, τέτευχα, τέτυγμαι.

4. The second future and aorist are formed from the short roots, which are found by shortening the present according to rule 20, Prel. Rem.

5. The roots ending in δ commonly lose the consonant in the second fut. active and middle, in the Attic dialect (fut. Atticum) νομίζω (root νομιδ) fut. 2. νομιδέω, νομιδέομαι, νομιέω, νομιέομαι, contracted νομιῶ, νομιῶμαι.

6. In the conjugation of the verb we must distinguish four parts: 1. the verb-root; 2. the tense-root; 3. the mood-vowels; 4. the terminations of the persons: e.g. of τυφθήσομαι τυπ is the verb-root, τυφθησ the tense-root, ο the mood-vowel, μαι the termination. Ἐτυψάμην, τυπ, ετυψ, α, μην; γέγραμμαι, γραφ, γεγραφ. no mood-vowel, μαι: τυπέεις, τυπέϊς, τυπ, verb-root, τυπε tense-root, ε mood-vowel, ις termination.

Mood-vowels.

The mood-vowels are, for the active and passive conjugation, with a few exceptions, in the 1st pers. sing., dual, and plur., and the 3rd pers. plur. of the indicative mood ο; in the other persons ε; in the subjunctive mood the same sounds, but doubled, ω, η; in the optative οι; in the imperative and infinitive ε; in the participle ο:

	Ind.	Subj.	Opt.	Imp.	Inf.	Part.
Sing. 1.	ο	ω	οι		ε	ο
2.	ε	η	οι	ε

1. THE ACTIVE CONJUGATION.

(a) Terminations of the Active.

I. The terminations, which are added to the mood-vowels, are, with a few exceptions, which will be stated below, in the indicative mood:

(a) For the Principal Tenses.

Sing. 1.	ο	2. ις	3. ι
Dual 1.	μεν	2. τον	3. τον
Plur. 1.	μεν	2. τε	3. ντσι

(b) For the Secondary Tenses.

Sing. 1.	ν	2. ς	3. no termination.
Dual 1.	μεν	2. τον	3. την
Plur. 1.	μεν	2. τε	3. ν

2. The subjunctive mood has the terminations of the principal, and the optative those of the secondary tenses.

3. The following terminations are added to the mood-vowels to form the other moods:

(a) Imperative.

Sing. 2.	θι	3. τω
Dual 2.	τον	3. των
Plur. 2.	τε	3. τωσαν

(b) Infinitive.

ιν

(c) Participle.

Note 1. The two vowels in the second future are, in the common dialect, contracted. (See Rules of Contraction in the Formation of Pure Verbs.)

Note 2. In the paradigm, all the tenses of four verbs are given for the sake of analogy, though all the tenses do not occur in any verb.

4. Exceptions :— Of the principal tenses the perfect, and of the secondary tenses the first aorist, have α as mood-vowel; and both are irregularly declined in the singular; but like each other, sing. 1. α, 2. ας, 3. ε. In the other numbers the terminations are regular. The pluperf. has ει as mood-vowel, and the third pers. plur. ends in σαν.

Note. Through the Macedonian conquests in Asia, some nations, who had formerly spoken Oriental languages, had become acquainted with the Greek tongue. Induced to write in Greek, while they continued to think in their native tongues, they created a Greek dialect with Hebrew, Syriac, and Chaldaic turns of expression, and many peculiarities, which proceeded partly from the Macedonian mode of speech. In this dialect, which we find in the Septuagint and the New Testament, the third person plural of the secondary tenses, and of the optative mood, frequently ends in σαν: εφαινοσαν, εφυγοσαν, λειποισαν, for εφαινον, εφυγον, λειποιεν: and the third person plural of the perfect in ν instead of ντσι: εγνωκαν, ειρηκαν, εοργαν, for εγνωκασι, ειρηκασι, εοργασι.

2. THE PASSIVE CONJUGATION.

Preliminary Remarks.

1. The passive conjugation is still more regular than the active, and more complete than in any other language.

2. The futures and aorists middle have complete passive forms, and will therefore be included in the passive conjugation.

3. The mood-vowels are the same as in the active; but there are no other exceptions than in the first aorist middle, which has α as mood-vowel in all the moods but the subjunctive.

4. The perf. and pluperf. have no mood-vowels: the terminations are joined to the tense-root, and the consonants are changed according to the rules which have been given above.

5. Both the aorists of the passive belong to an old form of conjugation without mood-vowels. This form of conjugation will be more fully explained below; but the terminations which are to be added to the verb-root, to form the aorist, will be given.

6. The third, or preterite future, is formed from the tense-root of the perfect passive τερον; and that termination, which is added to the verb-root in order to form the future of the middle: σομαι, τετύψομαι.

(a) Terminations of the Passive.

1. The terminations which are added to the mood-vowels are:

(a) For Principal Tenses.

Sing. 1. μαι 2. σαι 3. ται
Dual 1. μεθον 2. σθον 3. σθον
Plur. 1. μεθα 2. σθε 3. νται

Dual 1. μεθον 2. σθον 2. σθην
Plur. 1. μεθα 2. σθε 3. ντο

2. The subjunctive mood has the terminations of the principal, and the optative those of the secondary, tenses.

3. The following terminations are added to the mood-vowels to form the other moods.

(a) Imperative.

Sing. 2. σο 3. σθω
Dual 2. σθον 3. σθων
Plur. 2. σθε 3. σθωσαν

 Plur. 1. ομεθα 2. εσθε 3. οντο

3. All the passive forms, except the perfect and pluperfect, which have no mood-vowels, are conjugated, in the indicative, in this way.

4. Paradigm of the Principal Tenses.

* The σ of the second person singular is thrown out in the passive conjugation, when it stands after a mood-vowel; εαι is then, in the common dialect, contracted into η, εο into ου, εο into ω. In the Attic dialect, εαι is most frequently not contracted into η, but into ει; and of βούλομαι, οίομαι, and fut. έψομαι, no other termination than ει in the second person sing. is met with.

			σται			στο

Note. The third persons plur. of the perf. and pluperf. become, when ν is thrown out and the consonant of the root changed, like the third persons sing.; they are, therefore, not used. To obtain special forms for them, either the ν of the termination is changed into α, and the p and k sounds aspirated: τέτυπνται, τετύφαται; or a periphrasis is employed: τετυμμένοι, εἰσί, ἦσαν.

(ζ) Conjugation of the Aorists Passive.

1, The first aorist is formed from the original roots of those verbs which have changed the same in the present and imperfect ; as, τύπτω, πράσσω, τυπ, प्राγ : and from the long roots of those which form only the second aorist, and second future active of short roots ; as, λείπω. Those, however, which change the εν of the present, in the perfect passive, into υ (τεύχω τέτυγμα), retain this letter also in the first aorist : ἐτύχθην.

2. The second aorist is formed, like the second aorist active, from the short roots : τυπ, λιπ, τυχ ; ἔτυπον, ἐτύπην, ἔλιπον, ἔλιπην, ἔτυχον ἐτύχην. (See the second Aorist of ἴστημι.)

(B) FORMATION OF PURE VERBS.

PRELIMINARY REMARKS.

1. The pure verbs take, in the perfect and pluperfect active, κ before the termination κα, κειν, and have, generally, neither a second future, nor a second aorist.

2. The last vowel of the root φιλε, τιμα, χρυσο, λυ, is frequently doubled when the termination, which is added to it, begins with a consonant : φιλήσω, τετίμηκα, έεχρυσώκειν, λῦσω.

3. Many add, in their passive forms, σ to the root, when a consonant follows : τελέω, τετέλεσμαι ; άκούω, ήκουσμαι, άκουσθήσμαι, ήκούσθην.

4. Some lose the σ in the first future : as, τελέσω, τελέσομαι, τελέω, τελέομαι, τελῶ, τελοῦμαι.

5. The following have a short vowel before σ :

α.— γελάω I laugh (fut. γελάσω, 1st aor. έγέλασα), θλάω I break, πικάω I cause to pass, σπάω I draw.

ε.— αἰδίομαι I venerate, ἀκίομαι I heal, ἀρκίω I suffice, ζέω I boil, ἐμίω I vomit, καλίω I call, κοτώω I am angry, νεκίω I quarrel, ξέω I polish, τελέω I finish, τρέω I tremble.

ο.— ἀρώω I plough (fut. ἀρόσω); so ὀμόσω I shall swear, ὀνόσω I shall profane.

υ.— ἀνύω I end (fut. ἀνύσω, 1st aor. ἤνυσα), ἀρύω I drain, βύω I stuff, ἐρύω I draw, ἐκρύω I drag or I trail, μεθύω I intoxicate, πτύω I spit, τανύω I stretch out.

6. The following have, in some tenses, a short vowel before a consonant; and, in others, a long one:

αἰνίω I praise, αἰνέω, ἤνεσα, ἤνημαι, ἠνέθην; αἰρέω I take, αἰρήσω, ἤρημαι, ἤρέθην; δεῖω I bind. δέσω and δήσω, δέδεκα, δέδειμαι, ἐδέθην; ποθέω I desire, ποθήσομαι and ποθήσομαι, ἐπόθεσα, πεπόθηκα, πεπόθημαι, ἐποθέσθην; δύω I sink, δύσω, ἐδύσα, ἐδύθην; θύω I sacrifice, θύσω, ἔθυσα, ἐτύθην; λύω I loose, λύσω, ἔλυσα, λέλυμαι, ἐλύθην.

Rules of Contraction.

1. A with an e sound (i. e. ε η) is contracted into a long α; and α with an ο sound (i. e. ο, ω, οι, ου), into ω:

τίμαε, τιμάης, τιμαόμεθα, τιμώνται, τιμάοιμι, ἐτιμάου, are contracted into τίμαᾶ, τιμάς, τιμώνμεθα, τιμώνται, τιμάμι, ἐτιμῶ.

2. Eε is contracted into ει, εο into ου; ε before long vowels and diphthongs disappears:

φιλέετε, φιλείομεν, φιλέηται, φιλώμεθα, φιλείοντο, φιλείου, φιλείτε, φιλούμεν, φιλήται, φιλώμεθα, φιλοῖντο, φιλοῦ.

3. Ο with a short vowel (ε ο) is contracted into ου, ο with a long vowel (η ω) into ω; ο before the diphthongs οι, ου, disappears:

χρυσόεσθον, ἐχρύσοον, χρυσόητε, χρυσόωσι, χρυσόοιεν, χρυσόου, χρυσούεσθον, ἐχρύσοουν, χρυσῶτε, χρυσῶσι, χρυσοῖεν, χρυσού.

Note 1. Ο with ει in the indicative mood, or with η in the subjunctive mood, is contracted into οι: χρυσόεις, χρυσόει, χρυσόης, χρυσοῖς, χρυσοῖ χρυσοῖς;

but, in the infinitive, ο with ει is contracted into ου, as if it had been οεν: χρυσόειν, χρυσούεν.

Note 2. Instead of the optative ending in οιμι, οίς, οι, there is another form ending in οίην, οίης, οίη, οίημεν, οίητον, οίητην, οίημεν, οίητε, οίεν. This form is more usual than the other in the singular of the verbs in εω and οω, and likewise in the plural of those in αω; but of the third person plural only οίεν is used.

Note 3. The ν ἑφελκυστικόν is dropped in contraction: ἐφίλειεν αὐτόν, ἐφίλει αὐτόν.

Note 4. In the following verbs αι is contracted into η: ζάω I live, διψάω I thirst, πεινάω I hunger, χράομαι, I use; thus ζῆς, ζῆ, χρῆται, ζῆν, διψῆν, πεινήν, χρῆσθαι, &c. The Attics make this contraction also in the following three: κνάω I scratch, σμάω I wipe, ψάω I scrape.

Note 5. The monosyllabic roots: αι, θίω, πνέω, &c. contract the vowels only before ε and ει; πνέει, πνέϊ, πνέειν, πνέϊν; but πνέομεν, πνέουσι, πνέη. Except δέω I bind, δέων, δῶν, δέον, δούν, δέομαι, δούμαι.

Note 6. ῥιγώω has, in its contractions, ω ψ, instead of οι ου; ῥιγῶν instead of ῥιγέειν, ῥιγούν, ῥιγῆ instead of ῥιγοίη.

Note 1. The 3rd pers. plur. of the perf. and pluperf. are here formed regularly, without changing any of the original letters.

Note 2. Of a few verbs there occur forms of the subjunctive and optative perf. pass. with mood-vowels, contrary to the general rule: e. g. μεμνώμεθα, tense-root μεμνη, mood-vowel ω, termination μεθα, cont. μεμνώμεθα (Plat. Pol. p. 63); κεκτῆται (κεκτῆ-η-ται) Xen. Symp. 1. 8; μεμνήμην (Hom. Il. ὦ 754), μεμνη-οι-μην, cont. μεμνήμην; μεμνήτο (μεμνη-οι-το) Arist. Plut. 992, Plat. Rep. vii. p. 134; κεκλήω (κεκλη-οι-ο) Soph. Phil. 119); κεκλήμεθα (κεκλη-οι-μεθα) Aristoph. Lys. 253. But μεμνώτο (Il. ψ 361), μεμνήτο (Xen. Cyr. 1, 6, 3), seems to be the optative of the present tense μεμνάομαι. See Heyne ad Il. ψ 361.

(C) FORMATION OF LIQUID VERBS.

1. The liquid verbs form all their tenses, except the present and imperfect, from the short roots: τέμνω, short root τεμ; κτείνω, κτεν; αἴρω, αρ.

2. In the perfect and pluperfect active (generally called the second), the ε of the root is changed into ο, and the other short vowels are doubled: κτείνω (κτεν), ἔκτονα, ἐκτόνειν; δρέμω, δέδρομα; φαίνω (φαν) πέφηνα, ἐπεφήνειν; τίλλω (τιλ) τέτιλα, ἐτετίλειν; θάλλω, τέθηλα. (See 7, the first perfect.)

3. They want the first future active and middle. The second future they form regularly, by taking έω, cont. ω̄, to the short root, and the first aorist active and middle without σ (α, αμην), but double the short vowel (φαίνω, φαν, ἔφηνα, ἐφηνάμην) and change ε into ει: νέμω, ἔνειμα, ἐνειμάμην.

4. Some tenses of φαίνω, ἀνατέλλω, I make rise, ἀγγέλλω I announce, τέμνω I cut, πλύνω I wash, τίλλω I pluck out,

φανέω	φανέομαι	πλυνήσομαι
Aor. 2. ἔταμον	ἑφανόμεν	ἑφάνην
ἔτιλον	ἤγγελόμην	ἑπλύνην

5. In the first aorist several change ᾱ into ᾶ instead of η: as, αἴρω I raise (ᾶραι inf.), δυσχεραίνω I am displeased, κερδαίνω I gain, ἰκέρδανα, κοιλáινω I hollow, λευκαίνω I whiten, ὄργαίνω (whence ὄργάνειας, Soph. Oed. Tyr. 335), πεπαίνω I ripen.

6. Those which have ε in the root often change it, especially in verbs of two syllables, in the second aorist into α: κτείνω I kill, ἔκτανον; τέμνω I cut, ἔταμον: στέλλω, ἐστάλην; πείρω, ἐπάρην.

7. The perfect of these verbs (generally called the first) has κ before the termination; and in those verbs which have changed the ε of the root into α in the second aorist this letter is also retained in this perfect: ἀγγέλλω, ἀγγελ, ἠγγελκα; στέλλω, στελ (2nd aor. π. ἐστάλην), ἔσταλκα; πείρω, ἐπάρην, πέπαρκα.

8. The verbs κρίνω I judge, κλίνω I bend, τείνω I stretch, κτείνω I kill, πλύνω I wash, make several forms from the roots, κρι, κλι, τα, κτα, πλυ:

κέκρικα	κίκριμαι	ἐκρίθην
κίεκρικα	κίεκριμαι	ἐκλίθην
τέτακα	τέταμαι	ἐτάθην
	ἐκταμαι	ἐκτάθην
πέπλυκα	πέπλυμαι	ἐπλύθην

The poets, however, to lengthen the syllable, put in ν in the aorist: ἐκλίνθην, κτανθείς, &c.

(D) CONJUGATION WITHOUT MOOD-VOWELS.

GENERAL RULES.

1. Besides the conjugation which has been explained above, there exists in some verbs another, which, in many tenses, is almost without mood-vowels, and for that reason exhibits peculiar forms, the roots of the verbs and the terminations being joined.

2. This conjugation is found in several pure verbs of a monosyllabic root in α, ε, ο; and in others, which receive the addition of ννυ to the root: σκεδα, σκεδαννυ (in mute and liquid verbs only νυ) μιγ, μιγνυ; δεικ, δεικνυ; αρ, αρνυ).

3. It comprises present and imperfect active and passive, and second aorist active and middle.

4. We take the roots φα, στα, ε, θε, δο; out of which φημι I say, ἵστημι I set, ἵημι I send, τίθημι I place, δίδωμι I give, will be formed.

5. Many roots of this conjugation are extended in the present and imperfect by ι being prefixed; before which, if the general rules permit, the initial consonant is repeated: φα, ἴστα, ἰε, τιθε, διδο (why not σιστα and θιθε?).

6. Corrupt forms are, πιμπλε from πλε, πιμπρα from πρα, with μ being put between.

7. The terminations are, with a few exceptions, the same as in the common conjugation. The subjunctive mood has the mood-vowels of the common verb (ω, η), and the optative has as mood-vowel ι after the vowel of the root: ἴστα, ἴσται; ἴε, ἴει, &c.

(α) Active Conjugation.

1. Indicative.

The vowels of the root are, in the singular number, always doubled before the terminations, φα, φη; διδο, διδω; ιε, ιη; τιθε, τιθη.

(a) Present.

The terminations of the present are in the singular irregular, but in the dual and plural regular.

Sing. 1.	μῖ	2. ε	3. σι	δίδωμι	δίδως	δίδωσι
Dual 1.	μεν	2. τον	3. τον	δίδομεν	δίδοτον	δίδοτον
Plur. 1.	μεν	2. τε	3. ντσι	δίδομεν	δίδοτε	διδοντσι
						διδούσι
						οι διδάσι

In the same way ἴστημι, ἴημι; τίθημι, δείκνυμι, σκεδάννυμι, &c. In the 3rd pers. plural of the roots in ε, ο, υ, the letters ντ are either thrown out, and the preceding vowel changed according to rule, or only τ is thrown out and ν changed into α: ἴεντσι, ἰέϊσι, ἰέασι; τίθεντσι, τιθεῖσι, τιθέασι; δίδοντσι, διδοῦσι, διδόασι; δεικνύντσι, δεικνῦσι, δεικνῦασι.

(b) Imperfect and Second Aorist.

The terminations are as usual:

Sing. 1.	ν	2. ε	3. none
Dual 1.	μεν	2. τον	3. την
Plur. 1.	μεν	2. τε	3. ν

The difference between these two tenses consists in the ε with the initial consonant being prefixed in the imperfect; and such verbs as do not take this prefix cannot form both tenses.

Imp. ἴστην	Aor. 2. ἔστην	Imp. ἐτίθην	Aor. 2. ἔθην
ἰδίδων	ἔδων	ἴην	ἦν
ἔφην	none	ἰδέικνῦν	none

Paradigm.

Sing.	ἴστην	ἴσσης	ἴσση
Dual	ἴσταμεν	ἴστατον	ἰσάτην
Plur.	ἴσταμεν	ἴστατε	ἴσταν

Note 1. The third person plural may also end in σαν, like the pluperfect of the active: ἴστασαν, ἐτίθεσαν.

Note 2. The second aorist of ἴστημι retains the doubled vowel also in the dual and plural, and even in the imperative and infinitive. In this way the aorists of the passive ἐτύφθην, ἐτύπην, are formed from the tense-roots ἐτυφθε, ἐτυπε. The last vowel of the root is doubled, and the terminations of the secondary tenses of the active are joined to it.

2. Subjunctive.

As the imperfect has no other mood than the indicative, the formation of the present and second aorist only will be explained. The difference between the two tenses consists only in the prefix.

The subjunctive mood has the usual mood-vowels (ω, η), but occurs only contracted; and it is peculiar to the formation of this mood, in this conjugation, that $\sigma\eta$ is contracted into φ (not $\sigma\iota$), and $\alpha\eta$ into η (not α).

Pres. $\iota\sigma\tau\alpha-\omega-\sigma$	Mood-vowel	$\iota\sigma\tau\acute{\alpha}\omega$	Root-vowel,	$\iota\sigma\tau\tilde{\omega}$

Note. In the same way the subjunctive mood of the aorists passive is formed: $\tau\upsilon\varphi\theta\epsilon-\omega-\sigma$, $\tau\upsilon\varphi\theta\acute{\epsilon}\omega$, $\tau\upsilon\varphi\theta\tilde{\omega}$; $\tau\upsilon\pi\epsilon-\omega-\sigma$, $\tau\upsilon\pi\acute{\epsilon}\omega$, $\tau\upsilon\pi\tilde{\omega}$ $\tilde{\eta}\varsigma$ $\tilde{\eta}$.

3. Optative.

The terminations of the secondary tenses have η before them:

Sing. $\eta\upsilon$, $\eta\varsigma$, η ; dual $\eta\mu\epsilon\upsilon$, $\eta\tau\omicron\upsilon$, $\eta\tau\eta\eta\upsilon$; plur. $\eta\mu\epsilon\upsilon$, $\eta\tau\epsilon$, $\eta\sigma\alpha\upsilon$.

The optative is formed from these terminations, the tense-root and ι being put between.

$\Sigma\tau\alpha-\iota-\eta\upsilon$; aor. 2. $\sigma\tau\alpha\iota\eta\upsilon$, pres. $\iota\sigma\tau\alpha\iota\eta\upsilon$: $\theta\epsilon-\iota-\eta\upsilon$; aor. 2. $\theta\epsilon\iota\eta\upsilon$, pres. $\tau\iota\theta\epsilon\iota\eta\upsilon$.

Paradigm.

	Present.		Second Aorist.
Sing.	διδόην διδοίης διδοίη		εἶην εἶης εἶη
Dual	διδόημεν διδοίητον διδοίητην		εἶημεν εἶητον εἶητην
Plur.	διδόοιμεν διδοίητε διδοίησαν		εἶημεν εἶητε εἶησαν

In the dual and plural η may be left out before the termination, and the third person plural may end in εν : εἶημεν, εἶημεν, εἶητε, εἶηεν.

Note. See the formation of the optative mood of the aorists pass. τυφθε-ι-ην, τυπε-ι-ην, τυφθείην, τυπέην.

4. Imperative.

The imperative has the full terminations, θι, τω, τον, των, τε, θωσαν.

Pres. ἴσταθι	Aor. 2. στήθι	Pres. τίθετι	Aor. 2. θέτι
δίδοθι	δόθι	ἔθι	ἔθι

στήθι with a long vowel, τίθετι instead of τίτεθι (from τίθεθι); the first θ maintains itself contrary to the general rule, because it belongs to the root. So also in the first aorist passive. τύφθητι for τύφθηθι. The stronger aspiration removed the weaker. The forms θέτι, δόθι, ἔθι, are shortened into θές, δός, ἔς; as the preposition προτί into πρόσ.

Paradigm.

Sing. ἴσταθι	ιστάτω	θές	θέτω
Dual ἴστατον	ιστάτων	θέτον	θέτων
Plur. ἴστατε	ιστάτωσαν	θέτε	θέτωσαν

5. Infinitive.

The termination of the infinitive is in the common dialect ναι; before which in the second aorist α of σταναι is doubled, στήναι; and the vowels in δοναι, θεναι, εναι, are drawn long into δούναι, θεῖναι, εἶναι :

Pres. ἰσάναι	Aor. 2. στήναι	Pres. τιθέναι	Aor. 2. θεῖναι
δίδοναι	δούναι	ἰέναι	εἶναι

Note. Compare the infinitive of the aorists passive with στήναι.

6. Participles.

The terminations are in the nominative, ντες, ντσα, ντ; but of ντ τ is dropped.

Pres. ἴσταντες	ἴστανσα	ἴσταντ	τιθεντες	τιθενσα	τιθεντ

φάς	φᾶσα	φάν
δεικνύς	δεικνύσα	δεικνύν

Note 1. Compare the participle of the aorists passive with τιθείς, εῖσα, έν.

Note 2. The other tenses of these verbs (perf. plup. fut. and 1st aor.) are formed from the root in the usual way; ἴω θήσω, σᾶσωστήσω, δῶ δώσω: but of the three verbs, τίθημι, ἵημι, δίδωμι, the first aorist has κα instead of σα; ἔθηκα, ἤκα, ἔδωκα: and of τίθημι, and ἵημι the vowel of the root is made long into ει in the perfect active and passive: θει, τέθεικα, τέθειμαι; ἱ, εἶκα, εἶμαι: and of ἴσθημι the augment of the perfect is also ει, ἔσθηκα, and εἴσθηκα.

1. The perfect, pluperfect, future and first aorist, are conjugated regularly; but the irregular first aorist in κα occurs only in the indicative mood.

2. Of the root στα a perfect and pluperfect are formed by ε being prefixed; perf. dual ἔστατον, plur. ἔσταμεν, ἔστατε, ἔστασι; plup. dual ἐστάτην, plur. ἔστασαν; sub. ἐσῶ; opt. ἐσταίην; imperat. ἔσταθι; inf. ἐσάται; part. ἐσταώς, ἐστώς.

3. Several persons in the active conjugation of these verbs are formed with mood-vowels: τιθῶ, τιθείς (τιθεῖς), τιθεί (τιθεῖ). Thus, ἰσῆς, διδοῖ, &c., from ἰσάει, διδόει; imperat. τίθει, δίδου from τίθει, δίδου; imperf. ἐτίθουν from ἐτίθειον, ἐδίδουν from ἐδίδοον.

4. θι is dropped from σῆθι in compounds: παράστα, ἀπόστα.

5. Some verbs form only the second aorist according to this conjugation: e. g. βαίρω I go, root βα, 2nd aor. ἔβην; γιγνώσκω, root γνο, 2nd aor. ἔγνων; δύνω, ἔδυν, inf. δύναι, part. δύς, δύσα, δύν. In these η, ω, ὦ, remain in all numbers, ἔξησαν, ἔγνωσαν, ἔδυσαν.

6. Those which in the present and imperfect have taken νυ or ννυ to the root form the other tenses from the original root: δεικνύμι (root δεικ), imperf. ἔδεικνυον, fut. δείξω, aor. 1. ἔδειξα, &c.

(β) Passive Conjugation.

1. The vowels of the root, which are doubled in the active, remain short in the passive, except ῥε and ἔ; which, in the perfect and pluperfect, retain the syllable αι of the active: εἶκα, εἶμαι, τέθεικα, τέθειμαι.

2. The terminations of the passive are the same as in the common conjugation: σ in the second person singular is not disturbed by a mood-vowel, and not thrown out (ἴσταμαι, ἴστασαι), except in the optative (ἴσταιμην, ἴσταιω), and in some forms, ἰστάμην, ἴστασο, ἴστω, ἴσω.

3. On account of this great regularity no full paradigm is required, only a list of the first persons.

OBSERVATIONS.

1. In the second person of the imperfect and imperative the σ is often thrown out: δίδοσο δίδου, τίθεσο τίθου, ἴστασο ἴστω.

2. Some verbs, which follow this conjugation, occur only in the passive, and several of them have a long vowel: δύναμαι, δύνασαι, δύναται I can; κείμαι I lie, imp. κείμην; δίζημαι, δίζησθαι I seek; οἶμαι I think.

3. The Attics form the moods of τίθεμαι, ἴεμαι, δίδομαι, also entirely after the analogy of common verbs, with the accent thrown back and οι in the optative:

τίθωμαι	τίθηται	πρόσθηται	πρόηται
τίθοιο	τίθοιτο	πρίθοιοντο	πρόοισθε
δίδωται	ἀπόδοιεν

Also the other verbs without mood-vowels follow, as far as regards the position of the accent, this analogy: δύναμαι, δύνωμαι, δύνηται, δύναιτο, &c.

(E) OF SOME SMALL VERBS.

1. The radical sound ϵ serves to express forms for the notions of being, going, and moving. To denote this difference, the ϵ must originally have been connected with consonants which have been thrown out. Thus εἶναι compared with the German seyn (to be), and ίειναι with the Latin eo, and the German geh'n (to go), show that a σ sound was associated with the former, and a guttural sound with the latter, which was changed from $F\epsilon$ into ξ . Together with ϵ another analogy had ι ; and ιω comp. with gi (in the dialect of Thuringia), for geh indicates a similar original formation.

2. The sound ϵ is extended into ει, when the personal termination μ is added (εἶμι I am, εἶμι I go, I move myself); and to express the transitive action, the ϵ is doubled and ι prefixed (like $\theta\epsilon$, $\rho\acute{\iota}\theta\eta\mu\iota$): $\acute{\iota}\eta\mu\iota$ I set in motion, I send.

1. Εἰμί I am.

This is the oldest verb, and therefore in all languages irregular. In Greek it remained very defective, because it is not used, as in other languages, to form tenses and persons, these being almost entirely formed from the root.

Note 1. ἴασι is formed from ἴντσι; whence also ἴσι (Theogn. 536); ἴνασι from ε, with ι prefixed: as in ἴμαι, ἴ, ἴμαι. Of the imperative ἴθι the form εἴ occurs in compounds: πᾶρει, πρόσει,

Note 2. The signification of this verb is, to set oneself in motion, to be about to go, therefore the present is used to express also the future; and the pluperfect I had set myself in motion means I went.

3. ἴημι I send.

This verb is inflected like τιθημι.

Pres. ἴημι, ἴης — ἴασι, ἴᾶσι ἰῶ, ἰῆς ἰείην ἴεθι and ἴει from ἴε ἰείς.
or ἰέισι

Imp. ἴην and ἴσον, ἴουν, and compounded ἐφίουν, ἀφίουν, and ἠφίουν.

Perf. εἶκα. Plup. εἶκειν. Fut. ἴσω. Aor. 1. ἴκα.

Aor. 2. (not used in the singular) ἔμεν or εἴμεν, ἔτε εἶτε. ἔσαν or εἶσαν. ὤ. εἶην, εἶης - εἶημεν, εἶμεν - εἶεν. ἔς, ἔτω. εἶναι. εἶς.

Passive.

Pres. ἴμαι. Imperf. ἰέμην. Perf. εἶμαι. Plup. εἶμην. Aor. 1. ἔθην, εἶθην.

Middle.

Aor. 1. ἠκάμην. Aor. 2. ἔμην, εἶμην. Sub. ὤμαι. Opt. εἶμην. Imper. οὖ. Inf. ἔσθαι. Part. ἔμενος.

Note. Of the aspirated root ἰ other forms have been made besides ἴημι, as, εἶσα I set, εἰσάμην I set myself. In this signification, especially the perfect ἦμαι I have set myself, I sit, occurs.

4. ἦμαι I sit.

Pres. ἦμαι, ἦσαι, ἦται, ἦσται - ἦνται. Inf. ἦσθαι. Imperat. ἦσο, ἦσθω.

Imperf. ἦμην, ἦσο, ἦτο, ἦστο, ἦντο.

Note 1. In compounds the accent is thrown back, and the moods are formed as in verbs with a mood-vowel: κάθημαι, κάθωμαι, καθοίμην, κάθου.

Note 2. With the addition of ννυμι, ἔννυμι, it signifies I clothe, and is then in prose always compounded with ἐπί and ἀμφί: e. g. ἀμφίεσω, ἠμφίεσα, ἠμφίεσμαι, εσαι, εσται, ἀμφίεσασθαι.

5. Φημί I say.

Pres. φημί, φής (not φης), φησί, φάμεν - φασί, φῶ, φῆς, φῶσι. φαίην ης. φαῖεν.

Imperat. φαθι, φάτω, τωσαν. Inf. φάναι. Part. φάς.

Imperf. ἐφην, ἐφης and ἐφησθα, ἐφησαν. Fut. φήσω - ουσι. Aor. 1. ἐφησα.

Middle.

Aor. 2. ἐφάμην, ἐφαντο.

Passive.

Perf. Imperat. πεφάσθω. Part. πεφασμένος.

Note. The imperfect ἔφην has the signification of the aorist, and where the infinitive of the aorist is required, φάναι is used in the same signification. In connection with δ' ἐγώ, δ' ὅς (he), it is used without φ: ἦν δ' ἐγώ said I, ἦ δ' ὅς said he.

6. Εἶδω I see, οἶδα I have seen, I know, ᾔδειν I knew.

The forms of this verb are made from εἶδ, οἶδ, and the shortened ἰδ.

	Ind.	Sub.	Opt.	Imp.	Inf.	Part.
Perf.	οἶδα οἶσθα οἶδε	εἶδῶ ᾗς ᾧσι	εἶδείην	ἴσθι	εἶδέναι	εἶδώς
	ἴσμεν ἴστον ἴστον
	ἴσμεν ἴστε ἴσασι

Plup. Sing.	ᾔδειν	Attic ᾔδη	from ᾔδεα
	ᾔδεις	ᾔδεισθα	ᾔδησθα
	ᾔδει	ᾔδειν	ᾔδη
Plur.	ᾔδειμεν	ᾔσμεν
	ᾔδειτε	ᾔστε
	ᾔδεσαν	ᾔσαν

Note. The forms ἴσμεν, ἴστον, ἴστε and ἴσθι, may be derived from the root ἰδ and ἰσ. For as ᾔδειμεν is changed into ᾔδμεν, and thus into ᾔσμεν, and ᾔδεσαν into ᾔδσαν ᾔσαν, so the σ in the above-mentioned forms may have been δ. On the other hand the 3rd pers. plur. ἴσασι, and the Homeric and Doric forms ἴσαν and ἴσαμι point to the root ἰσ.

THE IRREGULAR VERBS.

A verb becomes irregular when the root is altered by the addition of other letters, either vowels or consonants; by the transposition of the original letters; or by exchanging any of the original letters for others. The consequence of this is, that some tenses are formed from the original root, and others from the altered root or roots. To make this clear, all the roots from which the tenses have been formed will be put after the present tense of each verb in the list of the irregular verbs. The defective verbs are generally classed with the irregular verbs though they do not belong to them. The forms of their present tense are obsolete, but their other tenses are arranged under the present tense of a different verb of the same signification, as if it were the root. Thus the future of ἔρχομαι, ἐλεύσομαι, is not formed from ἔρχ, but from the obsolete verb ἐλεύθω; and the aor. 2. of αἰρέω, εἶλον from the obsolete ἔλω.

Several verbs in αω and εω, which had the Æolic digamma F (αFω, εFω) have retained the υ, which was formed from it, in the fut. and aor. 1, though it has been entirely dropped in the present: κάω (καίω) I burn, καύσω, ἔκαυσα, κλάω (κλαίω) I weep, κλαύσω; χράω I scratch, χραύσω; πλέω I sail, πλεύσομαι, ἔπλευσα; ῥέω I flow, ῥεύσομαι, ἔρρευσα; θέω I run, θεύσομαι; χέω I pour, χεύσομαι; πνέω I breathe, πνεύσομαι, ἐπνεύσθην. In those in εω this υ remains alone when the syllable is shortened; κέχυμαι, ἐχύθην. Thus ἐκλύθην, κλύτος renowned, may be derived from κλέω I celebrate.

For the more convenient formation of some tenses ε is often added to the roots of verbs of all kinds: αῦω I blow, from the root α, αε, fut. ἀήσω; εὔρ, εὔρε, fut. εὔρήσω, I shall find; θελω I will, θελε, fut. θελήσω; τύπτω, τυπτε, τυπτήσω; μάχομαι I fight, μαχε, μαχήσομαι; ὀφελω I owe, ὀφελε, ὀφελήσω; ὄζω I smell, ὄζε, ὄζήσω; οἴχομαι I depart, οἴχε, οἴχήσομαι; τεύχω, τυχε, τετύχηκα; γράφω, γραφε, γεγραφήκως; χαιρω I rejoice, χαιρε, χαιρήσω; ἀναίνομαι I refuse, ἀναινε, ἀνήνηνται; especially in liquids: μένω, μενε, μεμένηκα, νέμω, νενέμηκα; βρέμω, βεβρέμηκα, &c.

Σ is frequently inserted before δ, which closes the root, and contracted into ζ: φραδ, φρασδ, φράζω; κλυδ (in ὁ κλύδων the billow) κλύζω I wash; σχιδ, σχίζω I cleave; and in several hundred other verbs in ιζω: ἀγίζω I consecrate, ἀγνίζω I purify, ἀγωνίζω I contend, ἀθροίζω I collect, αιματίζω I make bloody. Also ζ is added to the roots ending in a vowel: σπάω I draw, ἀσπάζω I draw to myself, I embrace; βιάω, βιάζω I force; στερέω, στερίζω (ε changed into ι) I bereave; ἀνθέω I bloom; ἀνθίζω I cause to bloom; ἀρμόω, ἀρμόζω, I fit; βρι, βρίζω I sleep; κνυ, κνύζω, I scrape. All these have a τ sound in their root, and are conjugated accordingly. (See Preliminary Remarks, 3, 8, 11; and Formation of Mute Verbs, prel. rem. 1. perf. κα, σμαι; fut. σω, σθησομαι; aor. σα, σθην.)

But ζ is also added in the root to γ and χ, which are then dropped: άκαγ (in άκαγή a point) άκάζω I sharpen; κραγ (in κραυγή a cry) κράζω I cry; άρπαγ (in άρπαγή robbery) άρπάζω I rob (this verb forms its tenses from two different roots άρπαγ and άρπαδ); στεναχ (in στοναχή a sigh), στενάζω I sigh; κριγ (perf. κέκριγα), κρίζω I creak; οίμωγ (in οίμωγή lamentation), οίμώζω I lament; δολυγ (in δολολυγή a shouting), δολούζω I shout; σταγ (in σταγών a drop), στάζω I drop, I trickle. All these form their tenses, except the pres. and imperf., from their original roots regularly.

Note. Some verbs ending in ζω have in the future ξω, although their roots have no k sound: as, ιναρίζω, fut. ιναρίξω; πολεμίζω, πολεμίξω; έγγυαλίζω, έγγυαλίξω. These are probably Dorisms.

T is added in the root to p sounds: κλεπ (in κλέπος theft), κλέπτω I steal; καπ (in κάπη a manger) κάπτω I devour; τυπ (in τύπος a stamp or coin), τύπτω I strike; καλυβ (in καλύβη a hut), καλύπτω I cover; βλαβ (in βλάβη injury), βλάπτω I injure; τριβ (in διατριβή occupation), τρίπτω I rub; αφ (in άφή the touching), άπτω I join, I fasten; θαφ (in τάφος a grave), θάπτω I bury; ραφ (in ραφή a seam), ράπτω I sew. The tenses of such verbs are formed from the original root: fut. κλέψω, καλύψω, άψω; aor. 2, έβλαβον, έταφον; fut. 2, pass. ταφήσομαι.

Σσ or ττ are added in the root to k sounds in many, to t sounds and to the vowels of pure verbs in a few. The k and t sounds are dropped before σσ or ττ: έλικ, έλίσσω or έλίττω I coil; κηρυκ, κηρύσσω or κηρύττω I proclaim; φρικ, φρίσσω I feel terror; πραγ, πράσσω I do; άλλαγ, άλλάσσω I exchange; πληγ, πλήσσω I strike; μελιχ, μελίσσω I sweeten; ταραχ, ταράσσω I disturb; όρυχ, όρύσσω I dig; λιτ, λίσσομαι I entreat; κορυθ, κορύσσω I raise, I excite; πλατ, πλάσσω I form; λευ, λεύσσω I look; άφυ, άφύσσω I drain. These are conjugated according to their original roots.

Σκ enters into a considerable number of roots, especially of pure verbs: γηράω, γηράσκω I grow old; ιλάσκομαι I propitiate (ίλαος); άλύω, άλύσκω I wander; διδαχ, διδάσκω I teach (if the final consonant of the root cannot be united with those that are added, it is thrown out); στερέω, στερίσκω I bereave; εύρ, εύρε, εύρίσκω I find.

In this case o is changed into ω, α into η; βλο, βλώσκω I come forth, γνο, γινώσκω, I know. These form their tenses, except pres. and imperf. from their original roots.

I shall premise a few observations on some Ionic and epic forms for the sake of elucidating those which are contained in the list of the irregular verbs, and of avoiding unnecessary repetitions in that list.

1. The reduplication frequently takes place in all the moods of the fut. and the aor. 2: κεκαθήσει (Od. φ, 153); δεδέξομαι, κεχολώσομαι, κεκλήσῃ (Il. γ, 138); πεφήσεαι (Il. ν, 829); διδώσω, δέδαον (δα), κεκάμω, κεκάμωσι (Il. α, 168). An additional augment is found in the indicative mood of a few verbs before this reduplication: ἐκεκλόμην (ἐκεκελόμην), ἔπεφνον (ἐπέφονον).

2. E is repeated before a long ε and η; ἐέλδομαι, ἐέλποίμην, ἐέργει (Il. β, 617); ἔηκε (Il. α, 48); and it is extended into ει before vowels and semi-vowels, and in the reduplication before δ: ειλήλουθα, είουκῖα (Il. σ, 418); δείδεκτ' (Il. ι, 224); δειδέχεται (Od. η, 72); δεΐδια (Il. κ, 93).

3. Short vowels are entirely thrown away: ῥύεσθαι for ἱρύεσθαι, ιδνίησι for ειδνίησι (Il. σ, 380); ἴδμεν for οἴδαμεν, ειληλούθμεν for ειληλούθαμεν, ἔπλετο for ἐπέλετο, κέκλετο for κεκέλετο, ἔπτατο for ἐπέτατο.

4. The augment is left out wherever the measure of the verse, or regard either to rythm or to euphony of form requires the omission of it. But it is found in the reduplication of some verbs: ἦραρε, ἦκαχε, ἦρορεν; and in the root, as well as in the reduplication in the plup. ἠλήλατο (from ελα) (Il. ε, 400); ἠήρηει, ἠήρηιστο.

5. In the singular number and the 3rd pers. plur. of the imperf. aor. 1 and 2, σκ is frequently added to the tense-root, and before σκ there appears as mood-vowel, in the imperf. and aor. 2, ε; in the aor. 1, α; but in the conjugation without mood-vowels only the vowel of the root: τύπτεσκον, εσκες, εσκε; τυπτεσκόμην, θρέζασκον, φύγεσκε, τίθεσκον, στάσκον, δόσκον, δείκνυσκον. The α of the aor. is put before σκ in the imperf. instead of ε in κρύπτασκε, ρίπτασκον, διαφρίπτασκον. The only example of a 2nd pers. plur. is ἐφάσκεθ' (Od. χ, 35). The augment with this form is very rare.

6. In the 3rd pers. plur. of the pass. the ν in οιντο (optative), οντο (imperf.), ενται, ονται, εντο, οντο (pres. and imperf. of the conjugation without mood-vowels) is sometimes changed into α; τυπτοίατο for τύπτοιοντο, τιθέαται for τίθενται, ἐδιδάατο for ἐδίδοντο; the ο in οντο is also changed into ε, ἐβουλέατο for ἐβούλοντο. It has been mentioned that also in the 3rd pers. plur. of the perf. and plup. pass. the ν is changed into α, and the tenuis into an aspirate: τετύφαται, ἐτετάχατο, ἐστάλαται. In those, the roots of which end in δ (or ζ) which letter is changed into σ before τ (ἐρήρεσται for ἐρήρειδται) the δ is retained, when the ν is changed into α: ἐρηρέδαται (the reduplication shortens ει), ἐσκευάδαται (σκευάζω), κεχωρίδαται (χωρίζω). Even in pure verbs this change takes place, and η is frequently shortened into ε: πεποθήαται (ποτε), οικίαται for ῥῥκηνται, ἐτετιμέατο for ἐτετιμήντο, κεχολώατο for κεχόλωντο, κεκλίαται for κέκλινται.

7. The 2nd pers. sing. of the subj. and optat. sometimes ends in σθα instead of ς: ἐθέλησθα for ἐθέλης, κλαίοισθα for κλαίοις; and the 3rd pers. sing. of the subj. in σι or σιν, τύπτησιν for τύπτη, ιστήσι for ιστή, δῶσι for δῶ. The syllable σθα is also added to the indicative in the conjugation without mood-vowels: τίθησθα.

8. Εο in the imperf. and imperat. is sometimes contracted into εν: ἐτύπτεν, τύπτεν. In the Homeric dialect ο is frequently changed into υ: ἄλλυδις (ἄλλο) Il. λ, 486; τηλύγετος (τηλό) Il. ι 143; likewise ἐμεῦ, σεῦ, for ἐμέο, σέο.

9. The subjunctive frequently loses its doubled mood-vowels, and takes those of the indicative: ἴομεν, let us go, ἐγείρομεν for ἐγείρωμεν (Il. β, 440); ιμίρεται for ιμίρηται (Od. α, 41).

10. The plup. has the old form εα added to the root, and thus ends in the sing. in εα, εας, εεν: ἀνώγεα (Od. ι, 44); πεποιθεα (Od. ζ, 181); ἐτεθήπιας (Od. ω, 90); ἦδεεν (Il. σ, 404).

11. The fut. 2 in εω is not contracted: τυπέω, ἀγγελέω. The subjunctive of the aor. pass. is frequently resolved: τυφθέω, τυπέω; and even the ε extended into ει; τυπέιω.

12. The termination of the infinitive is frequently μεν, μεναι, instead of ιν, ναι: τυπτ-ε-μεν τυπτέμεν, τυπτ-ε-μεναι τυπτέμεναι, for τύπτειν; τετυφέμεν, τετυφέμεναι for τετυφέναι; τιθέμεν for τιθέναι, ιστάμεναι for ιστάναι; θέμεν for θείναι; δόμεναι for δύναι. The short vowel is also doubled: τιθήμεναι.

13. The σ of the fut. and aor. 1 is often doubled: τελέσω for τελέσω; ἐκόμισσε for ἐκόμισε; δαμάσσω for δαμάσω; φράσσομαι (φράζω).

14. The semi-vowels are frequently doubled to strengthen the syllable: ἔλλαβε, ἔλλειπον, ἔμμορε, ἔννεπε, ἐρρύσατο, ἔσσευα.

15. In the perf. of pure verbs κ is often thrown out, and the short vowels of the root sometimes retained: βεβῆασι for βεβήκασι, τετλήως, τετλαώς; the 1st and 2nd pers. dual and plur., and the infinitive of the perf. are again shortened: τέτλαμεν, τέτλατον, τετλάναι; but the 3rd pers. plur. and the participle contracted: τετλάσι, βεβῶς, βεβῶσα, βεβῶς, for βεβαῶς, βεβαῖα, βεβαῶς. The termination αως is also changed into εως: τεθνεῶς.

16. Sometimes the mutes undergo no change before μ as in the common dialect: ἴμεν for ἴσμεν, κεκορυθμένος (root κορυθ) for κεκορυσμένος, ειλήλουθμεν, ἐπέπιθμεν for ἐπεποιθειμεν (Il. β, 341, δ, 159, ξ, 55); ἀκαχμένος pointed (root ακ), with the reduplication, but without an augment: ἀκαχ-μένος for ἀκηγμένος.

17. The 2nd pers. sing. pres. and imperf. pass. εαι, εο, are not contracted; we therefore find in the verbs in εω another ε before those terminations. This ε remains in the Ionic prose: φιλέεαι, ἐπαινέεαι; but the epic poets sometimes contract the two εε into εἷ: μυθεῖαι for μυθεεαι; before εαι ε is frequently and before εο always elided by them: πωλέαι (Od. δ, 811); φαβέαι, αἰτέο, ἐξηγέο.

18. In pure verbs in αω the α is often changed into ε; ὄρῶ for ὄρᾶω, φοιτέοντες for φοιτάοντες: in the same way the α of the root of the conjugation without mood-vowels before a vowel: ιστέασι for ιστάασι, cont. ιστᾶσι, ιστέαται for ιστάαται, ἴστανται. The letters αω are generally contracted into ῶ; but poets frequently extend the contracted syllable again by adding another vowel of the same sound as that into which the two have been contracted: e.g. ὀράειν, cont. ὄρᾱν, extended ὄράαν; ἀσχαλάει, cont. ἀσχαλαῖ, ext. ἀσχαλάα, ἀγορᾶσθε, ἀγοράασθε; ὄράω, cont. ὄρῶ, ext. ὄρώω; ἀλάου (imperat. pass.) cont. ἀλῶ, ext. ἀλώω; βοάουσι, cont. βοῶσι, ext. βοῶσι; αἰτιάοιτο, cont. αἰτιῶτο, ext. αἰτιῶτο. The ο is also placed after the contracted vowel: ἡβῶντε for ἡβῶντε, γελῶντες and γελῶντες, γελῶντες. Verbs in οω take ο before the contracted syllable, but then ον and οι are changed into ω and φ: ἀρούσι, cont. ἀρούσι, epic ἀρόωσι; δηῖόντο, δηῖούντο, δηῖόντο, δηῖοιεν, δηῖοιεν, δηῖοφεν.

19. The infinitive of the pure verbs ends also in ναι, μεναι, instead of ιν, φορε-ε-ναι, φιλε-ε-μεναι, γοα-ε-μεναι; but εε and αε are contracted into η: φορῆναι, φιλήμεναι, γοήμεναι, for φερεῖν, φλεῖν, γοῆν. In ἀρόμεναι for ἀροῦν the syllable is made long by the insertion of μ.

20. The subjunctive mood in the conjugation without mood-vowels, τιθέω, ιστάω, δίδω, cont. τιθῶ, ιστῶ, διδῶ, takes the vowel of the root before the termination; but α is changed into ε (as 17) and ο is doubled (ω): τιθέω, τιθέης, τιθέωμαι, θέω, θέωμαι, ιστέω, στέω, δῶω, δῶης. The epic poets extend ε into ει before ω; θείω, θείωμεν, στείω; before η the ε is always extended into η in those which have α in the root; but in those which have ε in the root, it is sometimes extended into η, sometimes into ει. Στῶ, στῆς, στῆ, become στείω, στήης, στήη; θῶ, θῆς, θῆ, either θείω, θείης, θείη, or θήης, θήη. In this extended form of the subjunctive the proper mood-vowels are often shortened: θείωμεν, στείωμεν, στήητον.

21. The 2nd pers. sing. of the aor. 1, imperat. middle has σσο instead of σαι in δύσσο, λέξσο, ὄρσο, ὄρσεν.

22. In the 1st pers. dual and plur. pass. the poets insert σ before σον and σα: τυπτόμεσθον, τυπτόμεσθα.

23. When α of the preposition κατά is dropped, τ is changed into the consonant which follows, either mute or liquid: κακκείοντες, κάββαλεν, καλλείπω, καρρέζουσα.
